IN HOME JOURNAL

A Week of History

This week is filled with exciting historical events! On Monday we get to remember history and on Tuesday we get to witness history. Then on Thursday we get to make history here at the Cordell Christian Home!

On Monday feel free to take a moment to yourself to remember Martin Luther King Jr. He was a strong man with an influential voice and he had the strength to stand up for what he believed in, even when it wasn't popular. So use Monday as a day to also stand up for what you believe in, just as M.L. King Jr. did years ago.

Whether the vote you cast for President in 2008 was the winning one or not, no one can deny that Tuesday will also be a very historical day. Barak Obama, the first African American President of the United States, will be sworn in at noon (Eastern Time) this Tuesday.

On Thursday at 2:00pm the Cordell Christian Home will be making its own little history. We will be hosting another game of Area Wide Bingo! We have gotten plenty of RSVPs and so far the guest list reaches almost 30 people! We hope to put on one of the best Bingo games ever with a record number of winners!

This week will live on in our hearts, minds, and history books for years to come and we can say that we were here to see it all take place. So take the time soak it all in. We hope this will be wonderful week for all of our CCH staff and residents.

Oh My Darling, Porcupine
By Steve Charney

(Sing to the tune of "Clementine".)

I was standing in a forest
underneath a tree of pine,
There I spied my future bride,
and
how I wished that she were mine.

Oh my darling, oh my darling,
oh my darling, porcupine.
You are lost and gone forever.
Dreadful sorry, porcupine.

And my darling, she was snarling—
should have seen that as a sign.
To impress her and caress her
was a big mistake of mine.

Oh my darling, oh my darling,
oh my darling porcupine.
You are lost and gone forever.
Dreadful sorry, porcupine.

I was standing in a forest
underneath a tree of pine.
Now I'm sobbing, my hand's throbbing.
Anyone got iodine?

Oh my darling, oh my darling,
oh my darling, porcupine.
You are lost and gone forever,
but at least your quills are mine.

Weekly Devotional

Enjoy Today

Do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself.

Matthew 6:34

Do not worry about yesterday or tomorrow. Live in the moment and enjoy today. Life is God's precious creation and each day is a miracle to behold.
