

Cordell Christian Home's Resident's Digest

By Nicole Allen

On Tuesday, September 1st, Cordell Christian Home residents started off the month by selling their old and unwanted items in the Resident's Yard Sale. Our residents had some very nice things and other residents and staff didn't mind paying a few dollars to turn some of those items into their own. The Resident's Yard Sale was a great way for our residents to throw out the old so they could bring in the new before fall begins.

The Resident's Yard Sale began at 1:30 in the afternoon and was held in the CCH sunroom. The sunroom was filled with clothing, shoes, blankets, quilts, jewelry, knick-knacks, stuffed animals, and hats! Residents who sold their belongings at the Resident's Yard Sale were Betty Arter, Margaret Frank, Jesse Locke, Annette Westreicher, and Judith Winn. Cordell Christian Home volunteers and activity team members also donated items to be sold for the resident's Bingo fund.

Our residents were very successful in selling their items and many people went home with amazing deals and beautiful new things. With winter only a few months away we are all going to have to thin our closets. Our residents had the right idea: sell your old stuff so you can afford some new stuff!

Our CCH residents and staff are so happy that the yard sale went well and residents hope they get to put another one on again in the future. The yard sale might become so popular that we will have to move it outside! Until then, we want to thank everyone who came and bought items from our residents. There was a great turnout and we all had a wonderful time!
